

Collingwood All Stars Representative Commitment - Player

If you are selected in an All Stars representative team, we ask you to carefully consider what you are signing up for.

Grow as a team

Succeeding in representative basketball requires commitment to your team and the Collingwood All Stars. This includes:

- being available for the full season, which runs from October to September, and participating in two tournaments
- attending training and games each week (even when injured) and ensuring you are ready to go on-court at training and game start times
- being at games 30 minutes before they commence
- understanding that teams will be selected on merit and team balance

There is no guarantee of equal court time.

I understand the information outlined above states the level of commitment required to ensure I contribute positively to the success of the team, develop as a player and have fun.

Make it happen

Getting a team on the court involves considerable organisation. Parents, coaches, team managers and the Collingwood All Stars staff work hard to enable you to play each week.

You can help to make it easier by:

- advising the team manager if unable to attend a game or training
- follow the instructions of your coach and team manager
- acknowledging communications & always being on time and at the pick-up point if being driven to a game or training
- paying entry fees and game fees
- speaking to the team manager or club representative if you need help or have any concerns

Develop as a player & person

By accepting a position on a rep. team you are committing to working hard to improve as both a player and a person, including:

- being fit and trying your hardest at all team activities
- respecting yourself and your coaches, team manager, team mates, parents and referees

Respect the club & league rules

You are letting your team members down if you are not allowed to play or points are lost for not following the rules of the club, the VJBL and Basketball Victoria.

Always remember to:

- accept the referees' decisions
- wear the All Stars representative uniform as required for games, arrival and warmup
- comply with the Collingwood Basketball Association Codes of Conduct:

Collingwood All Stars Representative Commitment - Carers

Collingwood Basketball Association strives to provide an environment consistent with the Club's values of development, enjoyment and support. Our success relies on the commitment of parents and carers and everyone contributing some volunteer hours.

As a parent or carer, I understand that I play a critical role in ensuring the All Stars representative program is competitive, enjoyable and well organised. By joining the All Stars Community you are committing to:

- supporting the player to meet the above commitments
- ensuring registration and game fees are paid on time, and to contacting the Operations Manager if you are having difficulties with this
- advising a club representative or the Operations Manager, as soon as possible, if your circumstances do not allow you to meet these commitments
- participating in a roster to ensure one adult is present at training
- assisting with scoring and other game duties
- helping provide lifts to games and training where possible
- maintaining respect for the coach and raising any issues through the team manager
- agreeing to and complying with the club and Basketball Victoria Parents Code of Conduct:
collingwoodbasketball.com.au/codeofconduct.pdf
- respecting referees
